

What is Point Wild?

Point Wild delivers scalable, flexible and user-friendly cybersecurity solutions. We aim to meet people where they are. Our best-in-class technology can empower individuals to protect themselves online, while also enabling businesses and partners to enhance their offerings, build trust and unlock new revenue in a world increasingly shaped by evolving digital threats.

Powering our protections is Lat61 by Point Wild built for scale, speed and adaptability. Lat61 is built upon more than two decades of experience protecting more than 25 million users. Constantly evolving to stay ahead of sophisticated threat actors, our technology powers our ecosystem of brands and products and is specifically designed to support diverse go-to-market strategies across consumer, SMB, and enterprise audiences.

Partner GTM & Brand

Point Wild's partner team helps businesses leverage security tools to boost customer retention, engagement and value.

Point Wild's partner business, called Pango, helps businesses unlock growth by providing online security tools that will increase customer retention, engagement and revenue. Pango partner solutions integrate seamlessly, enabling partners to choose the deployment method – whether it be white label, off the shelf or a hybrid – that fits the business needs.

With Lat61, our turnkey platform of customizable security solutions, you can gain more trust from your audience while creating a competitive advantage using a growth-driven strategy that's tailored to your business.

Launch Quickly

Lat61's seamless API integration simplifies the technical heavy lifting, enabling your team to deploy faster and engage customers sooner, without compromising on quality.

Tailored Solutions

The Lat61 platform comprises our industry-leading products and enables easy configurability for partners looking to customize their solution, enabling you to build and deploy a product offering that matches your audience's needs and paving the way to strategic business growth.
